Case Secretary Tells of Visit By Attorney

Says She Believes She Was Questioned About Gas Measure

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Francis Case's receptionist told Senate investigators today she believes attorney John M. Neff questioned her about the natural gas bill during a visit to the senator's office last month.

Mrs. Mabel O. Connell, receptionist and file clerk, made the statement in testimony before the blue-ribbon committee investigating whether Neff attempted to influence Case's vote on the gas bill with a $2,500 campaign contribution.

Mrs. Connell, first witness called in the second day of the inquiry, said Neff visited Case's office twice one day last month.

She testified she believes Neff mentioned the natural gas bill to her but could not remember exactly what he said.

She told Neff that Case could not see him. Mrs. Connell testified, and referred him to Case's legislative clerk, Opal Van Horn.

Mrs. Connell, a gray haired woman who formerly was city auditor at Aberdeen, S. D., said she had never heard of Neff before he showed up at the senator's office. She said she could not remember the date, but it was before Jan. 18.

Committee counsel Charles W. Steadman asked Mrs. Connell whether Neff had referred to "Mr. Kahler." She said he mentioned Kahler's name on one of the two visits.

Case testified Friday that the campaign contribution—twenty-five $100 bills—was left with Ernest J. Kahler, business manager of the Sioux Falls, S. D., Argus-Leader, on Jan. 25. Case also said Kahler had written him earlier that Neff had inquired about the senator's stand on the natural gas bill.

Key issue in the Senate investigation is whether the campaign contribution was an attempt—which Neff vigorously denies—to influence Case's vote on the controversial bill to exempt gas producers from direct federal controls. Case voted against the measure.

Another issue—injected into the investigation late Friday by Case—is whether a "fictitious" telegram was sent to the South Dakota Republican urging his support for the bill.

Case testified that the telegram bore the name of John M. Griffin, Sioux Falls druggist authorized to receive campaign contributions on his behalf. But he said when he showed the telegram to Griffin during a break in the hearings Friday, Griffin denied signing it.

He asked the special committee to investigate the authenticity of all the telegrams he received urging his support for the gas bill.

Nation's Only Survivor of Union Army In Civil War Celebrates 109th Birthday

DULUTH, Minn. (UP)—There wasn't room for the candles on Albert Woolson's birthday cake today.

Instead of candles, the baker inscribed "109" in candy icing on top of the cake which he donated to the nation's only survivor of the Union Army of the Civil War.

Woolson will cut into the cake at a turkey dinner tonight for 16 relatives and close friends. That is about the only celebrating he will be permitted.

His daughter put her foot down against too much celebrating this year because she said, "He tires too easily." In past years Woolson was the center of a community observance in which school children serenaded him with songs while he sat on the front porch despite the winter weather.

His recent bout with lung congestion and fatigue changed all that.

A doctor who examined the aged veteran Friday, however, was "quite amazed" at Woolson's recovery. Woolson gained back much of the weight lost while he was hospitalized and is eating "exceptionally well," the doctor said.

Woolson received permission to smoke several cigars after waking at 6:30 a. m., eating a hearty breakfast and looking over the hundreds of birthday cards and letters received the past few days.

John Salling, also 109 and Virginia's surviving Confederate veteran, conveyed his best wishes.

Among the letters was one from President Eisenhower who said he was "delighted once again in saluting you."

Woolson was born Feb. 11, 1847, at Watertown, N. Y. He volunteered for the Union Army when he was 16. He enlisted in Company "C" of the 1st Minnesota Heavy Artillery as a drummer boy after his father had lost a leg in the battle at Shiloh.

Nine-Year-Old Cub Scout Found Slain; Twin Brothers Suspected

WHEELING, W. Va. (UP)—Ohio County Prosecutor Joseph A. Gompers today labeled 14-year-old twin brothers as "hot suspects" in the bludgeoned murder of a nine-year-old cub scout.

The body of David Powell was found Friday under the porch of a house on Wheeling Island on the Ohio River. The boy had been stabbed four times in the neck and several times in the chest, but County Coroner John Dugan said an autopsy showed death was due to a shattered skull.

A two-by-four and a brick, both smeared with blood, lay beside the body.

Gompers said the twins, whose identities were not disclosed, were picked up for questioning Friday after their mother suddenly withdrew them from a morning class at Madison Elementary and Junior High School, which the victim also had attended.

Police said the twins were released temporarily after a brief period of questioning when their parents obtained the services of two attorneys, Frank A. O'Brien and George H. Seiber Jr., a member of the West Virginia House of Delegates.

Gompers said one of the brothers identified a pearl-handled pocket knife found under David's body as his. But the boy claimed he had lost the knife Tuesday while returning from school.

The prosecutor said a search of the brothers' home uncovered a pair of overalls splattered with a "reddish stain." One of the brothers said the clothing became stained when he ate a "catsup sandwich."

The overalls were taken to Charleston, W. Va., by Patrolman Reese Blair for examination by state police crime laboratory. Blair also took a blood-spotted jacket and pair of trousers found at the home of a 69-year-old suspect arrested earlier Friday. The suspect, who agreed to undergo a lie detector test today, said the blood stains were those of rabbits he had shot during the hunting season.

Police said the man had been arrested in the past on morals counts.

The Powell boy was last seen alive by Mrs. Ben Gayhart when he stopped at her home Thursday evening to sell her a ticket for his cub scout troop, heretofore.

The youngest's stepfather, Otto Dlesk, notified police when the boy failed to return home for dinner.

About 200 residents of the island, which has a population of about 10,000 searched for David Thursday night and Friday. They were aided by bloodhounds from Moundsville State Penitentiary.

Mary A. Wilson, 23, niece of the boy's stepfather, found the body under the porch of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Williams, a block from the boy's home.

Police said a boy's cap and gloves, not belonging to the victim, were found near the body.

Westinghouse Talks Collapse

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Negotiations in the 118-day Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike today reached the "Where do we go from here?" stage.

Talks in the prolonged dispute blew up Friday in a bitter exchange of condemnations by the company and the International Union of Electrical Workers. The federal government washed its hands of the walkout after four months of trying to achieve peace.

The collapse of talks came after five days of fruitless bargaining under a settlement formula proposed by Federal Mediation Service Director Joseph F. Finnegan.

Bitter accusations and name calling followed immediately. IUE Secretary-Treasurer Al Hartnett accused the company of a "workers and public be damned attitude." Westinghouse charged union leaders with "arrogance."

Miss Nancy Judd of DeKalb is the new home adviser in Gallatin county. Miss Judd began her duties the first of February.

A graduate of the University of Illinois, Miss Judd's major field of study was in the home economics extension work and she has a minor in physical education.

While in college Miss Judd participated in Home Economics club, Women's Athletic association, Young Women's Christian association and student church foundation activities.

Miss Mary Ann McCue resigned as Gallatin county home adviser last fall and the position has been vacant since that time.

Allies Protest Armed Bands In East Berlin

BERLIN (UP)—The Western Allies warned Friday night they will hold Russia responsible for any attack on West Berlin by the armed Communist gangs now being organized in the city's Soviet sector.

The United States, Britain and France, in one of the strongest protests they have ever sent to Moscow, said the existence of armed bands in Red Berlin could have the "gravest consequences."

The protest reminded the Reds that the Western powers have promised to defend West Berlin against "attack from any quarter," and added they will not recognize "any waiver of responsibility by the Soviet government for acts which could lead to any such attack."

Pilot of One Big Jet Killed Only Few Miles from Home Town

TOPEKA, Kan. (UP)—Ten airmen were killed Friday when two Kansas-based B47 jet bombers crashed within a few minutes of each other in Kansas and South Dakota.

The coincidence went further than that. Capt. Floyd Ray Shirk, 29, of Rapid City, S. D., was killed in one of the B47 crashes only a few miles from his home in Rapid City.

'Mad Dog' Irvin Refuses to Waive Extradition; Wins Postponement

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Leslie (Mad Dog) Irvin, escaped Indiana mass murderer who was captured in a pawnshop here, blocked efforts Friday to send him east to the electric chair.

Irvin, condemned to death for one of six holdup murders in Indiana and Kentucky, refused to waive extradition and won a postponement until Tuesday.

The 31-year-old prisoner broke out of an "escape proof" jail in Princeton, Ind., on Jan. 19 and eluded police in 10 states. He was finally picked up by two San Francisco patrolmen Thursday when he tried to pawn two rings stolen in a Los Angeles robbery.

The usually mild, almost passive, Irvin changed sharply when he was asked to waive extradition.

"No," he snapped, "not until I see my lawyers."

He said his lawyers were James Lopp and Theodore Lockyer of Evansville, Ind. Lockyer, reached in Evansville, said there was little possibility of him traveling to California to visit Irvin.

"I don't know where the money would come from," Lockyer said.

Municipal Judge James J. Welsh continued Irvin's arraignment until Tuesday to permit him to consult with counsel.

Three Indiana law enforcement officers arrived here Friday night and learned of the delay. Lt. Willard L. Walls of the Indiana state police said, "We'll wait."

Walls was accompanied by Detective Sgt. William Cornett and by Sheriff Earl Hollen of Gibson County in which Princeton is located.

Funeral services for Roy Rievley, well known Harrisburg businessman who died of a sudden heart attack at his residence Friday morning, will be Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Gaskin funeral home. Rev. Joe Morman will officiate and burial will be in Sunset Lawn cemetery with Masonic rites.

Pallbearers will be John Allen, William Sloan, Jesse Hunsaker, Michael Reshetter, Kenneth Capel and L. J. Holland.

Mr. Rievley was born in Saline county August 12, 1892, and in 1918 married the former Mabel Wright of Stonefort who survives him.

He was a member of the Masonic lodge, the Elks, Shrine, a veteran of World War I and a member of the Liberty Baptist church.

Besides his wife he leaves one sister, Mrs. Vida Dwyer, Harrisburg, one brother, Charles Rievley, Springfield, Mo., two nieces and two nephews.

He had been a representative of the Owen-Mathison Industries since 1943, was owner of the Rievley Coal company, located on the site of the old Peabody 43 mine, and was also a partner in the Harrisburg Coal Co.

Accept Bids For $60,000 Telephone Building at Eldorado

Bids have been accepted for the construction of a $60,000 building at Eldorado by the General Telephone Company of Illinois.

Low bidder for construction was the Bearden Construction Co. of Marion. Harrisburg Electric Co. was low on the electric contract and Sutton Plumbing Co. of Eldorado was low for plumbing, heating and air-conditioning.

Bids were opened at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Eldorado city hall with six bidding on the general contract, five on the electric and seven on the plumbing, heating and air-conditioning.

To be constructed as a brick and concrete building to house the dial equipment and commercial offices of the Eldorado exchange of the General Telephone Co. It will be built on Jackson street between First and Second streets, which is across from the First Baptist church. The building will be on a 64 by 125 feet lot purchased by the company last year.

It was learned that Bearden plans to start construction of the building immediately.

It also was learned that the changeover to the dial system at Eldorado is expected in the early winter.

Gallatin Soil District Meeting Held at Ridgway

The annual meeting of the Gallatin County Soil Conservation district was held Friday afternoon in the grade school gymnasium at Ridgway with approximately 150 persons in attendance.

Horace G. Brown, Gallatin county superintendent of schools, and Russell Ellis, representative of the Mississippi Valley Farm Equipment Dealers association, were the principal speakers.

The Gallatin County Soil Conservation district, one of 99 in the state of Illinois, was organized in May, 1944. In addition to offering soil conservation service to the farmers of Gallatin county, the district has sponsored plowing contests and conservation essay contests to bring the subject of conservation to the attention of many persons.

The meeting started at 1 p. m. with the invocation by Rev. J. C. Harris of Ridgway. The welcome was extended by J. O. Austin, superintendent of the Ridgway schools.

Following reports from the organization's officers and the addresses by Mr. Brown and Mr. Ellis, members of the board of directors for the coming year were elected.

Members of the board are Alfred Rister, Omaha, chairman; H. J. Meyer, Equality, vice chairman; Arthur Brugger, Junction, secretary-treasurer; F. B. Dempsey, Sparks Hill and Edgar Talbott, Junction.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

Electricity is becoming more and more a servant of farm folks as electric lines reach out to serve most rural homes. As farming has grown in complexity and mechanization, farm use of electricity has increased by leaps and bounds.

The rural housewife has found that electricity lightens her work load and brings to the country home the same comforts and pleasures from modern appliances that her city cousins enjoy. Mr. Farmer has found that electric motors are tireless hired hands that cost little to operate and are as convenient as human ingenuity can contrive.

So helpful has electricity become to the average farmer that several electric motors are in operation on most farms. There are many areas where the number will total 20 or more.

This growing use of electricity brings up a question. How long has it been since the farm buildings were wired? Likely it has been 10 or 15 years. In that case the wiring may have deteriorated in some places. Beyond a doubt the usage load has increased greatly since the wiring and the outlets were installed, and the farmer has found that the original wiring job is inadequate for present needs. Overloaded circuits may have resulted. Such overloaded or deteriorated wiring is a fire hazard.

Agricultural engineers point out that a good time to inspect the wiring—or to have it checked by an experienced electrician—is during the winter when the weather is disagreeable and the farm work is slack. This also is the time when electrical contractors are most readily available to make repairs and to improve electrical installations for more efficiency in farm work. An experienced electrician should be used to make major wiring repairs or alterations.

How long has it been since all the electric motors have been cleaned and oiled? Are they protected from dust? How well is the motor-operated equipment adjusted? Set aside a winter day or two for this chore. It is a good management practice.

More questions. Are you using ordinary lamp wire of No. 18 size as an extension to operate a portable electric motor when the attached cord is not long enough to reach the wall outlet? This isn't a good idea. Buy or make up a 50-foot, heavy duty rubber-covered extension cord with heavy duty rubber plugs for use around the farm. Home appliances also need extensions of heavier gauge than lamp cord to give longer life and more efficient service. Of course, the best practice is to avoid using extensions. Either have equipment located near existing wall outlets, or improve the wiring to provide plenty of outlets at convenient places.

Dairy Short Course At SIU Feb. 14-16

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Southern Illinois dairy farmers will have their first chance to attend a dairy short course at Southern Illinois University next week.

SIU offers its first dairy workshop Feb. 14 and Feb. 16. The main speakers will be Karl Gardner, who is acting head of the University of Illinois dairy science department, and Veral R. Smith, a professor of dairy husbandry at the University of Wisconsin.

The first meeting will take up problems of dairy cattle selection and improvement. The session next Thursday will deal with problems of feeding, milking and producing high quality milk.

Control of parasites, good feeding practices and plenty of water for your laying flock will help prevent winter pause in egg production.

Parasites Now Help Control Corn Borer

We now have three parasites of the European Corn Borer established in Illinois according to J. M. Wright, associate entomologist of the Illinois State Natural History Survey.

Two of these parasites are wasps and the third is a fly. Wright went on to say that only the fly has established itself in large enough numbers to be of any benefit.

In 1943 Wright went to Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New Jersey to collect the parasitic fly. Originally the fly had been brought to this country from Europe and the Orient. In the summer of 1944 Wright released the fly in several northern Illinois counties.

Yearly checks show that on an average the fly kills 30 percent of overwintering borers. In some counties as high as a 65 percent kill has been recorded.

Wright added that normally 70 percent of overwintering borers die before the next season. (This includes death due to weather and the activity of the fly.)

Wright was quick to point out that weather is still our most effective natural control of the corn borer. Extreme cold of 4-5 days duration without a protective cover of snow in winter, and cold, rainy weather at egg laying time are the principal weather checks.

The parasitic fly looks very much like the common housefly, according to Wright, and it is very unlikely that an untamed person would recognize it as a corn borer parasite.

Spraying to control corn borers does not seem to affect the usefulness of the fly over large areas. Although the fly is killed by the insecticides used in corn borer control, it is killed in the same proportion as the corn borer.

CDAA Kills Annual Grasses But Not Corn or Soybeans

A new weed killer, CDAA or Diallyl Acetamide, will kill annual grasses such as foxtails and barnyard grass, but is not toxic to corn or soybeans.

F. W. Slife, University of Illinois College of Agriculture weed specialist, recommends CDAA as a pre-emergent spray. It can be sprayed right behind the planter, and it should be sprayed directly over the row. The rain will wash it into the soil.

Slife says that it is best to spray CDAA in a strip about 12 inches wide. Using this method, the spray will cost $2.50 to $3.00 per acre. CDAA should be applied at the rate of one pound per acre with five gallons of water.

Ester 2, 4-D and CDAA can be mixed for spraying corn fields. Using this combination, you not only kill the weeds in the row, but you can delay the first cultivation for about three weeks and give the corn a better start.

Spray this combination in strips 12 inches wide over the row. Do not use the mixture on soybeans as 2, 4-D will kill young bean sprouts. The cost of the combined sprays would be $3.00 to $3.50 per acre. Slife recommends one pound of CDAA and one-third pound of 2, 4-D with five gallons of water per acre for the combination spray. These killers will be effective for about one month.

Slife adds that spraying these weeds is a lot easier than cutting them with a hoe.

Notes From Farm Adviser L. B. Kimmel

On February 21st, starting at 9:45 a. m., R. J. Webb, known to many of you as Bob Webb, of Dixon Springs Experiment Station, will be at the city hall in Harrisburg to talk to livestock men on pastures, roughages, and care and management of beef animals and sheep.

Dr. M. E. Mansfield, Extension Veterinarian, will also be present at this meeting to present information on animal health. Mark this date on your calendar and plan to attend this meeting.

Dairy men may want to mark their calendars for J. G. (Jerry) Cash meeting with the dairy farmers at the Farm Bureau office, Tuesday, February 14 starting at 9:00 a. m. Jerry is on a program in the afternoon at Southern Illinois Dairy program at Carbondale and will only be with us in the morning. So plan to be here, if interested in dairying.

Limestone application is still the basic treatment for southern Illinois soils. Phosphate and potash, as well as legumes and a good crop rotation, are all-important, but you must still have lime, and lime is first. Lime spreading is dropping off over the state from what it was eight to ten years ago. There are not too many selling limestone. New cars, television sets and other gadgets are sold by intensive sales programs. We have taken it for granted that limestone will sell itself, but it seems this is not the case. It is one of the best long-range buys for a farmer.

A soil test is important, but soils that have been limed may respond to more lime, especially if deeper plowing is made on a field that had enough to take care of five or six inch plowing. Eight inch plowing turns up soil that has no lime and also places this on the surface.

A soil that requires three tons of lime may get three tons and still show an acid condition for several years because the lime must completely disintegrate or dissolve to sweeten the soil. This may take four or five years. Four or five tons would not be too much added to a soil testing 3 to 3 1/2 tons of lime for best results.

Limestone often makes the phosphate in the soil more available. Extra lime may take the 1000 pounds as rock phosphate insoluble for a time but it has the opposite effect on natural phosphate. It makes it available.

Limestone increases soil bacteria and breaks down plant food not available in an acid soil. So you can see why lime is our cheapest soil treatment and gives most returns for its use.

University of Illinois dairymen like to feed some legume hay along with oat silage to their cows, since that type of silage is a little low in protein for high-producing animals.

Destruction of One Million Rats Is Goal of Nation's Farm Youth

This is the time of year when publicity materials like those above appear as part of local rat and mouse control campaigns conducted by farm youths. Both boys and girls take part in the campaign—a part of a full-scale national program to make all communities aware of the damage and disease caused by rats and mice.

There are many reasons why the nation's farm youth groups are conducting campaigns aimed at killing a million rats. Each rat, it is estimated, costs the farmer $20 per year. Rats destroy about 10 times more property and food than they eat, and their contamination of grain cuts its market value. Moreover, rats carry and spread numerous human and livestock diseases. Mice are only slightly less destructive.

Rural youth groups everywhere are making plans, selecting committees, talking to local bait dealers, to other businessmen, to town or city officials, and to the general public, urging them to help control rats and mice.

Now available to all youth organizations is a wide variety of campaign aids, prepared in connection with the national rat and mouse control campaign. Posters,

Case Explains Farm Surplus Factors

URBANA—Several factors have combined to bring about the present surplus of farm products, with the government responsible for an amount equal to about one-fourth of one year's farm production.

Any attempt to set forth major responsibility for current surplus should include consideration of the following, according to H. C. M. Case of the College of Agriculture of the University of Illinois.

1. Mechanical power has displaced horses which has released about 10 percent of cropland to produce food or feed for other classes of livestock.

2. The second world war and high prices have led farmers to adopt greater use of fertilizer and other improved techniques of production more rapidly than in any preceding period of time of similar length.

3. The federal government urged all-out farm production following 1945 and installed high price supports which by 1950 resulted in surpluses of feed grains practically equivalent to present stocks of feed grain. The same influences helped expand wheat production.

4. Continued high price supports for corn unduly held back livestock production at the time when the per hundred weight price was near $30 for hogs and $40 for the best beef cattle. A lower price support for feed grains would have led to a larger livestock production at profitable prices. This could have used much of the surplus corn that is still on hand.

5. Our export market for farm products has been materially reduced relative to past conditions due to our own international trade policies adopted about 25 years ago.

6. As a result of short food supplies during the war and restricted purchasing power at the end of the war, foreign countries have greatly increased agricultural production. Compared with 1934-39 Free Europe has increased agricultural production by 35 percent.

7. Continued development and adoption of improved techniques have increased production more rapidly than population has grown.

8. High fixed prices for wheat in particular without regard to the quality of wheat grown have greatly expanded the tilled land area especially in the Great Plains area.

These are some of the major factors that help explain the accumulation of present agricultural surpluses, Case says. But they do not provide the answer for clearing our markets of the surpluses which now have the effect of holding down current prices of farm products.

The large 1955 crop production has added about eight percent to the surplus of feed supplies, or less than three percent of a normal year's production. In fact, the total accumulation of surplus feed grain has increased at the rate of about three percent a year for the past eight years. The accumulation of the surplus has a serious effect in holding down the prices of farm products.

Worms Cut Cattle Profits

DIXON SPRINGS — M. E. Mansfield, extension veterinarian at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station of the University of Illinois, says stomach worms may be at fault if your cattle aren't gaining as fast as you think they should.

It's hard to tell if your cattle have stomach worms, Dr. Mansfield says. If all the cattle are infected you will not be able to compare individuals because they'll all show the same symptoms of slow gain.

Other symptoms include rough hair coat, loss of weight, usually diarrhea and loss of appetite. Stomach worms usually do not cause death in cattle, the veterinarian says, but the animals may die if you neglect them.

If you suspect stomach worms in your herd, call your local veterinarian and have him check the manure for worm eggs.

Additional Church Notes
On Page Three

Before you say your prayers, there's something I want to tell you. Tonight, I want you to ask God to bless everyone in the whole wide world.

On World Day of Prayer children in every corner of the globe, grown-ups too, will pray that God will make this world a better place.

Remember last summer at camp when you called out at the edge of that cliff and your echo came answering back? Well, imagine all the people in the world calling out at once in prayer. Imagine how big the echo would be, and how much it would please God to hear it.

You are lucky children, because you live here in America, because you have your Church and the right to attend it. So tonight, thank God for things like that, darlings, even if you don't entirely understand them. And when you've finished... ask Him to bless everyone.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Luke 18:1-14
GOLDEN TEXT: "Confess your faults one to another, that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." (James 5:16)

INTRODUCTION—The Queen of England is said to have been more afraid of the prayers of John Knox than she was of 10,000 soldiers. It was John Knox who said, "Lord, give me Scotland, or I die." God gave him Scotland.

Prayer is the most powerful instrument that man has. There is more power in prayer than there is in all the man-made instruments of war put together. "Prayer changes things." If only America had the faith in God that she has in the physical might she possesses, America could conquer the world without the use of arms.

Prayer is the means by which man can lay hold onto the throne of God. It is through prayer that man can win for himself the blessings of God. However, let it be understood that it is only through real prayer that these may be accomplished. Artificial, memorized, insincere prayers are not prayers, but words only.

1. CONTINUOUS PRAYER
Some folks pray only when there is serious sickness, sorrow, or they are in trouble. This will not get the job done. We are to pray: "1. CONTINUOUSLY" (V. 1) — "Pray without ceasing." This does not mean that in every waking hour man is to be repeating words in prayer to God. It does mean that the attitude of one's life should be such that there is a continuous desire for the will of God to be done. It means that at any given moment one should be able to consciously commune with God.

2. WITH FAITH (VV. 2-9)—Here we find an unjust judge who finally answered the plea of the widow. He did not want her to keep on pestering him. Not so with God. He invites us to approach him in prayer (Jeremiah 33:3), and he promises to answer our prayers.

3. WITH HUMBLENESS OF HEART (VV. 13-14)—Look at this "repentant publican." He would not even so much as raise his head off his breast to look upward as he prayed. He was truly sorry for his sins. Listen to his cry: "Lord, be merciful unto me, a sinner." God will always hear such a prayer from a sincere heart. There was forgiveness for this man because he was humble.

II. PRAYER WITHOUT POWER
Really there is no such thing as prayer without power. What some folks call prayer is not prayer at all. Words alone cannot make a prayer. Sometimes there is more prayer in few words than in many.

1. SELFISH WORDS (V. 9-11)—This Pharisee "prayed with himself." Anytime one lets self get into the picture, there is no prayer. Listen to his words: "I thank Thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican." My! but was he not proud of himself. He did not need God's help. He was already as good as he desired to be. He just wanted to tell God how really good he was. God was not interested. He is not interested to do in such words.

2. PUBLIC DISPLAY (V. 11)—This Pharisee stood in a public place. He got himself a good corner on the street where everyone could observe him. This is not the proper attitude for prayer. Jesus suggests that we get off in a closet somewhere and shut the door. He suggests that we "pray in secret." He promises that if we do that God will reward our prayers openly and publicly.

Even prayers prayed in public worship services are to be prayed to God and not for the benefit of the hearing of those present. It is not necessary for one to display his fine vocabulary nor his knowledge of the Bible, for God to hear and answer prayer. One who does such as this is seeking for a public display of himself. He already has his reward.

CONCLUSION—How about your prayer life? Someone says: "I say my prayers every night." Saying prayers is not prevailing prayer. If you have no spiritual power in your life it is probably because there is no prayer in your life. Praying is not easy. One must first of all be a child of God—a member of his "born again" family, before he can pray. One must be living a righteous (the right kind) life before he can pray with power. When you live the right kind of life, you will know the meaning of: "The fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

Orphans Drub Bull Dogs, 57 to 36

Locals Fail to Show Recent Improvement; Scoring Percentage Low

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, who had been playing a pretty fair brand of basketball of late, did not continue their improvement last night and were drubbed by the Centralia Orphans, 57-36, at Dav-enport gym.

The locals were cold as the fall-ing snow outside and the South Seven contest, witnessed by little more than a handful, was as slop-py as the sod underfoot.

The locals just weren't a unit last night and their shooting per-centage was poor. Outside of Welch, Centralia did not look like a powerhouse although the Or-phans won by 21 points.

There's not much to be said about the game. Centralia ran up a 9 to 3 lead and never ran into trouble. One thing can be said in Centralia's favor was that on de-fense the Orphans covered a man fast; so the Bull Dog shooters had to get their shots off in a hurry.

Pups Lose, 53-30
The Bull Dogs shot 22 per cent the first half, in which the Or-phans led, 15-7, at the quarter and 24-17 at the half. Centralia out-scored Harrisburg 15-9 the third period to lead 39-26 at the end of the frame. And in the final quar-ter the locals were outscored, 18 to 10.

Wayne Stone was high for the locals with 14 points. Welch was the game's high point man with 20.

In the preliminary contest, the Bull Pups, playing without three first semester regulars—Ray Has-sett, Chuck Henshaw and Mike Walker—lost to the Centralia freshman-sophomore team, 53-30. Hassett has graduated to the varsity and made four points last night.

Centralia led 12-5 at the quar-ter, 27-15 at the half and 20-14 at the end of the third period. Donald

Jim Hearn Leads Opening Round of Early Wynn Play

SARASOTA, Fla. (U.P.)—Jim Hearn of the New York Giants, who once gave up golf because he felt it was interfering with his pitching, carried a one stroke lead today into the second round of the annual Early Wynn baseball play-ers golf tournament.

Hearn passed up several social gatherings to get in some practice before the tourney started and those extra sessions paid off with a fine 36-36 par 72 card over the long Bobby Jones course here Friday.

One stroke back of Hearn was Fred Hutchinson, the new man-ager of the St. Louis Cardinals, who fired a 37-36-73.

Kansas City pitcher John Gray took a 74 for third place while tied for fourth place with 77 apiece were former Pittsburgh outfielder Paul (Big Poison) Waner, and ex-Cleveland pitcher Wes Ferrell.

Billy Goodman of the Red Sox and Cleveland Manager Al Lopez were bracketed at 79 each.

Defending champion Heinie Manush, who used to roam the outfield for Washington, was far back with an 81. Wynn, the Cleve-land hurler for whom the tourna-ment is named, had an 84.

Biggs was high with 12 points. Ronnie Rauh had 6, Eddie Price 4, Phillip Kane 3, Don Pickford and Zan Hefner 2 each and Bill Yates 1. Ron Maynard also played.

The Bull Dogs are idle until next weekend, when they meet Herrin there and Eldorado here.

Bored Fans Walk Out as Dons Win Easily, 79-46

By United Press
The fans walked out on national champion San Francisco, bored by the ease of the Dons' 44th straight victory, but they didn't walk out on a spirited UCLA team that strengthened its hold on first place in the Pacific Coast conference by a dramatic two-point triumph.

Mighty San Francisco had no trouble at all chalking up win No. 44 Friday night, 79-46, at San Francisco.

But UCLA nearly blew a 13-point lead in a frantic finish be-fore beating Stanford, 50-48, at Stanford. The win enabled the Bruins to retain a two-game lead with their perfect loop record in the PCC, and dropped Stanford, the "surprise" team of the West Coast, to third place.

San Francisco, ranked No. 1 na-tionally by the United Press Board of Coaches, proved once again that it's far too strong for rivals in the California basketball associa-tion.

By the end of the game only about 1,500, mostly Don students, still were in the stands.

Lapchick Resigns As Coach of Knickerbockers

By United Press
Officials, writers, and fans gave Joe Lapchick a rousing send-off as he ended his professional bas-ketball career, but the pesky Syracuse Nationals prevented Lap-chick's New York Knickerbockers from giving him a final victory.

Long, lean Lapchick, once a star many years ago of basketball's famed "original Celtics," ended nine years as Knicks' coach in the first half of a National Basket-ball Association doubleheader at Boston Friday night in which New York bowed to Syracuse, 94-88.

In the second game, the only other action in the league Friday night, the Boston Celtics beat on another scoring rampage for a 124-100 decision over the St. Louis Hawks.

Lapchick resigned "for reasons of health" and Vince Boyrta takes over as coach with tonight's game against St. Louis in New York.

which he has been reticent to talk during the years.

"Sigel Capel, Marion Whitley, James E. Jobe and I, all Harris-burg men, made a trip to Spring-field at the time of Gov. Tanner's inauguration to see about getting me a job as mailkeeper at the Ches-ter penitentiary," he started.

"Mr. Capel and Mr. Whitley were Harrisburg attorneys and Mr. Jobe, who had been county superintend-ent of schools here, was commis-sioner at the Chester penitentiary." All but Mr. Russell now are dead.

(Investigation showed that John A. Tanner was inaugurated gov-ernor of Illinois on Jan. 11, 1897.)

But back to Mr. Russell's story: "Tanner had just married a new wife and was in a room high up in a hotel. The four of us went up to his room and walked in. The governor was there, and very noisily he came forward, with hand outstretched, saying: 'Well, hello, Whitley, how are you?'

"I was very much surprised at all this because I figured there would be a lot of dignity about a governor.

"But while we were there, before anything could be said about the job I wanted, in walked an import-ant figure from Gallatin county named Ridgway. Ridgway greeted the governor, then told Tanner he wanted the job as mailkeeper at Chester for Charlie Millsbaugh.

"Anything you want is yours, Ridgway," the governor told him, and that was the end of the job as far as I was concerned.

"Later that day Jobe came up to us and said, 'Boys, I've just got onto something and I think we should see it.' Jobe explained that they were starting to reconstruct the Lincoln monument in Oak Ridge cemetery and that the Lin-coln Monument association was go-ing to meet the next day and iden-tify the body when it was brought to the surface.

"The next morning at sunup the four of us were at the tomb. The guard—a one-legged soldier—was there. When we told him we wanted to see the body he refused. But when each of us slipped him a dol-lar and each promised he would never tell, he let us peer at the President when the casket was brought to the surface.

"The casket had been seven feet deep in the vault and I believe there had been a marble slab over it. The casket was made out of some kind of metal, it looked like lead, and it had a glass top.

"As we looked at the figure through the glass, all four of us burst into tears. There was mold and hair on the face and you could see a black circle where he had been shot. I never saw such long fingers on any man. He had a very wide mouth and his cheek bones stuck up high."

Mr. Russell taught in the schools of Saline county for 29 years, start-ing in 1883. He did not teach 29 consecutive years but worked as a bookkeeper for a lumber com-pany part of the time. Also, in the summers, he worked as a carpenter.

Schools at which he has taught include Old No. 7 west of Harris-burg, Bankston, Cain, Salem, Car-rier Mills, Neal, Dallasania and Holmes. He retired as a teacher and since has worked at Blue Bird Mine, the O'Gara machine shop and

Central Michigan Beats SIU, 77-71

MT. PLEASANT, Mich.—Hitting for 28 points, Dick Kaackmeister paced Central Michigan to a 77-71 win over Southern Illinois univer-sity here last night.

Central Michigan jumped into an early lead, led at the half, 36-29, and managed to maintain a slim lead during most of the second half to beat the Salukis, who had nipped the Chippewas, 70-66, at Carbondale in January.

One of the keys to Michigan's success was the bottling up of 6-6 Gus Doss, SIU center from East St. Louis. Doss got three fouls early in the game and was relieved by center Larry Whitlock, Mt. Vernon. Doss went back into the game briefly in the second half, but ended the night without scor-ing any points.

Big man for Southern was War-ren Talley, Pinckneyville, who scored nine baskets and hit for four free pitches for 22 points. Tal-ley received an ankle injury in the game, but returned to action after treatment by SIU trainer Jack Jones.

Second high for Southern was Seymour Bryson, Quincy, who scored 13, while Whitlock had 12, and Dick Blythe, Hammond, Ind., 10.

Second high for Michigan was Glen Stuart with 18.

Southern faces Michigan Normal at Ypsilanti tonight and Eastern plays at Central Michigan.

The double loss of Eastern and Southern just about gave Western Illinois (7-0) the conference title.
